

I think cross ownership is a bad idea. I believe that there is too great of a risk of biased reporting. The idea of the owner having the opportunity to try to influence the public to only see their point of view is not good for this country or free enterprise